URGE HOUSE TO IMPEACH JUDGE OF NEW COURT

Judiciary Committee makes Formal demand to the House in Its Report Today

MORAL SENSE IS DEADENED

Members Say Justice Has Prostituted His Office For Personal Profit

STARTED AS DISTRICT JUDGE

Finding is that When First on Bench Archbald Tried to Capitalize Seat

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Formal demand that Judge Robert W. Archbald of the United States commerce court, be impeached for "misbehavior, and high crime and misdemeanor," was made to house of representatives today by the judiciary committee. The committee declared Archbald's "sense of moral responsibility has become deadened" and that he "has prostituted his high office for personal profit."

Thirteen Articles

Thirteen articles of impeachment were presented in the resolution. The judiciary committee's report on the investigation of the commerce court judge, filed supplementary to those formal demands, bristled with bitter denunciation of Archbald. The entire report and the full text of the impeachment articles were read to the house. Chairman Clayton then asked that action on the matter be deferred until tomorrow.

"The testimony in the whole case," the report says, "tends to support the general specification of general misbehavior."

"The testimony shows that at different times, while Judge Archbald was a judge of the United States district court, he sought and obtained credit and in other instances sought to obtain credit from persons who had litigation pending in his court."

"The testimony shows that after Judge Archbald had been promoted to the position of United States circuit judge, and had been designated as one of the judges of the commerce court, he, in connection with different persons sought to obtain options on culm dumps, and other coal properties from officers, and agents of coal companies which were owned and controlled by railroad companies."

Judge Silent Partner

"The testimony further shows that in order to influence officers of the coal companies, which were subsidiary to and owned by the railroad companies, Judge Archbald repeatedly sought to influence the officials of the railroads to enter into contracts with his associates for the financial benefit of himself, and his associates. In most instances, the contracts were executed in the name of the person associated with the judge in the particular transaction or trade, and the judge's name was not disclosed on the face of the contract. Testimony shows, however, that he was, as a matter of fact, peculiarly interested in such contracts and that while his interest was not known to the public, it was known to the officials of the railroad companies, and of the coal companies and their subsidiaries."

"Such options, contracts and agreements were sought and obtained by Judge Archbald to such an extent that the exposure of the judge's several transactions through the press, gave rise to a public scandal."

"The testimony fails to disclose any case in which Judge Archbald invested any actual money of his own in any of these several deals, but shows that he used his personal influence as a judge of consideration of what he received, or was to receive, as his share in the property or profits of the deal."

The committee summed up its opinion of such a course as having "grossly abused the proprieties of his office as judge."

Moral Sense Dead

"Your committee is of the opinion that Judge Archbald's sense of moral responsibility has become deadened. He has prostituted his high office for personal profit. He has attempted by various transactions to commercialize potentially as judge. He has shown an overweening desire to make gainful bargains, with parties having cases before him, or likely to have cases before him. To accomplish this purpose, he has not hesitated to use his official power and influence, and as degraded his high office and as destroyed the confidence of the public in his judicial integrity. He has forfeited the conditions upon which he holds his commission and should be removed from office by impeachment."

JURY IS GIVEN CAMORRA CASE

Trial Which Began in Viterbo, Italy, in 1906 nears Its End Today

MAY BREAK UP THE GANOS

Object of Famous Case was to Destroy Mafia and Other Criminal Organizations

ROME, July 8.—A telephone message received at the Sala Stampa this afternoon from Viterbo says that the jury in the Camorra trial has returned a verdict of guilty against all of the accused. Eight of the men on trial were found guilty of having actually participated in the murder of Genero Cuccolo and his wife, and all of the remainder were found guilty of being active members of the oath bound brotherhood, and of having participated in the numerous crimes, evidence of which was developed during the long drawn out trial. They will receive prison sentences as there is no death penalty in Italy.

VITERBO, Italy, July 8. — The jury which will pass upon the guilt or innocence of the accused Camorrist, retired at ten o'clock today to deliberate on its verdict. It was expected that it would report to Judge Bianchi late tonight.

Of the forty-one persons originally charged, three were never captured, three died during the trial, while twenty were liberated during the trial's progress, owing to the fact that they had already served the maximum time possible for sentence in the event of a conviction.

Attempt to Break Band

Although the specific charge brought against the forty-one originally arrested for the crime was the murder of Genero Cuccolo and his wife, Naples, in June, 1906, the real object of the prosecution was a supreme attempt on the part of the Italian government to break up the great criminal organizations in Italy the Camorra of Naples, and the Mafia of Sicily. The government had expected that if it secured convictions in the present case, the leaders of both organizations would be frightened out of the country.

Members of the organization were immediately arrested after the Cuccolo murder and charged with the crime, but through the instrumentality of Father Ciro Vitezzi, Catholic priest, were released only to be later re-arrested. After nearly five years of work Maresciallo Capizut, an Italian detective secured a confession from Abbatmaggio, one of the members of the band and his story has been the chief reliance of the prosecution for a conviction.

Fear Camorra

The trial finally began on March 1 at Viterbo. The prisoners, including Father Vitezzi, were confined in a large steel cage, which had been constructed in the court room. A separate cage had been constructed for the informer Abbatmaggio and the trial moved very slowly. Weeks were required to secure the jury owing to the fear of the Camorra. Then when the actual trial began there were many sensational interruptions.

PLEADS FOR LORIMER

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Pleading with the senate carefully to weight the evidence before they "blasted Lorimer's career and character," Senator Dillingham of Vermont, today summed up the Illinois senator's defense against ouster from the senate.

STATE NEAR END IN THE DARROW TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 8.—With Mrs. Robert Bain ready to resume the witness stand, the state was near its conclusion today in the trial of Clarence Darrow.

Robert Bain, it was stated, would follow his wife on the stand and be the final witness.

Upon the conclusion of the prosecution's case, the defense will begin its long attack. Two score additional witnesses are to be called, and it is reported that Darrow himself will be the first to take the stand.

REVIEW BOARD MEETS

The board of review is now in session at the office of the city tax commissioner at the city hall. They will be in continual session until the final adjournment. According to the announcement of Tax Commissioner Frisch, the board will probably finish their work by July 15.

MARRIED YESTERDAY

Miss Maud Derr and Lloyd G. Smith, both of Viroqua, were married at the home of Percy E. Long, 1219 South Eighth street, yesterday afternoon. Rev. Christy performed the ceremony.

ROBERT J. EWE DIES SUDDENLY IN DAVENPORT

Paralytic Stroke Came at Six O'clock in the morning and Medical Aid Failed to Save

UNCONSCIOUS TO THE LAST

Taken From Hoseboat to Mercy Hospital in Ambulance. Bright's Disease Back of it

WIFE AND FAMILY CALLED

Hasten to Scene But Arrive Too Late. Are Returning With the Body This Afternoon

Robert J. Ewe, 1114 state street, died suddenly at Davenport Sunday morning. The immediate cause of death was a paralytic stroke resulting from an acute attack of bright's disease.

Mr. Ewe was a guest on a houseboat, and with other La Crosse men was a spectator at the motorboat regatta. He was stricken on board the boat at about 6 o'clock in the morning, and died at Mercy hospital at 1 o'clock the same afternoon.

In response to a telegram Mrs. Ewe and her daughter Johanna hastened to Davenport, but arrived too late to see Mr. Ewe alive. They are returning with the body, and will arrive via the Burlington at 5:45 o'clock tonight.

With them is Mrs. V. Tausche, Mr. Ewe's sister, who hastened to Davenport after being intercepted at Clinton by a telegram as she was on her way to St. Louis on the steamer Quincy.

During his stay in Davenport Mr. Ewe had arisen about 6 o'clock each morning, going through a system of physical exercises and taking a dip before breakfasting. He had followed this custom on Sunday morning, and as the party planned returning home that day others of the party also arose early. Suddenly Mr. Ewe complained of a severe pain in the back of the head, and he shortly retired to his room. A few moments later he was found in an unconscious state. A physician was called, and pronouncing the attack apoplexy he ordered the patient rushed to the Mercy hospital in an ambulance. Mr. Ewe never regained consciousness.

Friends whom Mr. Ewe accompanied to Davenport are coming up river in launches. They will abandon the boats and take a train in time to be present at the funeral.

SENATOR BOISTROW DECLARES FOR T. R.

EMPORIA, Kas., July 8.—Declaring that the re-nomination of President Taft was fraudulent and in no way binding on republicans, Senator Bristow of Kansas has declared for Col. Roosevelt in a letter to William Allen White, it was announced here today. White is the Roosevelt national committee man from Kansas. Bristow, it was stated, advised all Kansas republicans to vote for Roosevelt electors.

MORROW TRIAL STARTS

CHICAGO, July 8.—"I am confident of acquittal," said Mrs. Rene B. Morrow today just before her trial on the charge of murdering her husband, Charles B. Morrow, was started. Assistant Prosecutor, John E. Northrup before entering the criminal court room said: "The state will not ask the death penalty, but it will demand a term of imprisonment for Mrs. Morrow." The writer club woman's trial, it was expected today, would require fully two weeks of the court's time. Some delay was anticipated in the selecting a jury. The difficulty of obtaining a jury of men who are willing to convict a woman of murder encountered several times in the criminal court.

SINGER IS COUNTESS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 8.—Leaving here today for the west after completing a three months' engagement as a soloist in a palm garden, Miss Isabelle Mayfield confided to friends that she is really the Countess Von Knobelsdorf, formerly of Vienna, the divorced wife of the Austrian nobleman of the same name. A trip to America where the white lights alienated her husband's affection for her is given by the countess as grounds for her divorce. The count is now said to be in Chicago.

SHOOTS WIFE AND SELF

WAYZATA, Minn., July 8.—Losing his temper in a supposedly trivial quarrel, William Phillips shot and wounded his wife, probably fatally, and then killed himself, at their home here early today. Their two young daughters had left the house only a few moments before and barely missed being witnesses of the tragedy. After shooting his wife, Phillips killed himself.

MEET TO PICK TAFT MANAGER

Sub-committee in Washington Can't Select Man and Put it up to President

WOULD OUST PRIESTLY

Movement on Foot to Put Oklahoman of National Committee Because He is T. R. Man

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Naming of a manager for President Taft's re-election campaign was the job which the president and nine members of the sub-committee appointed by the Chicago convention wrestled here today.

Meeting Secret

The nine members of the sub-committee: S. A. Perkins of Washington; Powell Clayton, Arkansas; R. O. West, Illinois; J. J. Adams, Iowa; C. B. Warren, Michigan; T. K. Niedringhaus, Missouri; F. W. Estabrook, New Hampshire; Newell Sanders, Tennessee; and Alvah H. Martin, Virginia—met behind closed doors at ten o'clock. The committee got into touch with President Taft shortly after noon adjourning to the white house, where luncheon was served. Throughout the day, the executive offices were thronged with politicians. Tonight the president plans a reception to which he has invited the entire republican national committee—nearly all the members being in the city—senate and house leaders, and a large number of lieutenants.

That the picking of a national chairman and of an advisory committee to assist in the campaign was regarded as no easy task, was evident today from the committee's attitude. Custom gives to the candidate the prerogative of naming his campaign manager, but as yet President Taft has refused to express any preference. The committee decided tentatively to agree on its own choice, and suggest that man to Taft, but it was with the understanding that if the president felt otherwise, the committee would immediately ratify his selection.

The committee also tentatively submitted to President Taft their choice of the personnel of a sub-committee of five representing as many different sections of the country, whose duty shall be to advise and assist the campaign manager in his fight for Taft's re-election.

No Choice

The conference of the members of sub-committee ended before noon. Members said no agreement had been reached as to the national chairman. They thought it best to consult President Taft before making a choice. The sub-committee went to the white house for luncheon, and it was stated another meeting would be held at the hotel at 3 o'clock, after a conference with President Taft.

Gen. Powell Clayton of Arkansas, was elected chairman, and Alvah H. Martin, Virginia, secretary of the sub-committee.

Contest Seat

Only one contest of the seat of a national committeeman was heard by the sub-committee. Judge Priestly of Oklahoma, was attacked by Oklahoma "regulars" as a pro-Roosevelt committeeman, and his ouster demanded. James A. Harris was suggested for Priestly's seat but no action was taken. The regulars charged that Priestly signed the "national progressive" call for a convention, and held that under the new rule adopted by the convention giving the national committee authority to unseat committeemen who will not support the candidate he should be retired.

Gen. Clayton and Secretary Martin said it was probable no officers would be chosen before late tonight or tomorrow.

ELOPER GOES BACK WITH HER HUSBAND

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 8.—Located after eloping with Robert Warrington of Martinsburg, Ohio, her girlhood lover, Mrs. Pearl Schrontz is on her way to her home in Xenia, Ohio, today with her husband, Dr. W. E. Shrontz, while Warrington remains in jail here on a vagrancy charge.

The husband traced his wife to San Francisco, where he found her living with Warrington in a cottage. Only the threat of prosecution on a felony charge induced her to leave Warrington.

ROBBERS STEAL GOODS

MINNEAPOLIS, July 8.—When Miss Harriet McGahan, proprietress of a fashionable dressmaking shop on Nicollet avenue, opened her place of business today she discovered more than $7,000 worth of costly materials had been stolen during the night.

SENATE ACCEPTS BULLITT

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The senate judiciary committee voted today to report the confirmation of nomination of William Marshall Bullitt of Louisville, to be solicitor general of the United States.

GEORGE W. HEATH RESIGNS AS SECRETARY AND MANAGER OF LISTMAN MILL COMPANY

GEORGE M. HEATH

MANAGER AND SECRETARY OF LISTMAN MILL RESIGNS AFTER EIGHTEEN YEARS' SERVICE

PROMINENT FOR OVER EIGHTEEN YEARS IN CITY

For That Term He Has been Associated With Great Milling Company of La Crosse

PLANS NOT MADE PUBLIC

Heath Says However He Regards New Enterprise as Bigger Than Present Position

SERVED AS AN ALDERMAN

Represented Fourth Ward During Most Stormy Period in History of Common Council

George M. Heath, secretary and manager of the Listman Mill Company, has resigned. The resignation, which has been in the hands of the company for several weeks, took effect this morning.

A. L. Goetzmann, Chicago, has been selected to succeed Mr. Heath as manager of the plant. Mr. Goetzmann's name was suggested to the company by Mr. Heath, who was familiar with his record and endorsed him as a man of experience and exceptional efficiency.

George M. Heath has been associated with Listman mill for eighteen years, and during his participation in its affairs the institution has grown to immense proportions, now ranking as the sixth flour mill in the world in point of capacity. "Marvel," its leading brand, is a household word throughout the country and a leading line in the flour markets of the world.

Has Other Plans

As to his future plans Mr. Heath said: "I am going to take up an enterprise which I regard as a bigger proposition."

He was not ready to make public his plans today, but said he expected to do so in the near future. That his new departure will take him from La Crosse was intimated in his remark that "no man can break business and neighborhood ties of eighteen years' duration without experiencing feelings of regret." Of his former associates, Mr. Heath said:

Friendly Feeling Exists

"I desire to record the fact that I entertain the most friendly feelings toward all the officers of the Listman Mill company, and that the company has my best wishes for its continued good success."

His Public Record

Mr. Heath has for years been recognized as a big factor in La Crosse business circles. He has been assiduous in his attention to business, his one activity outside his private field having been a term served as alderman from the Fourth ward. This was during the heated times of the electric lighting and power controversy, and by force of circumstances he became floor leader for one faction, defending his contentions with force and logic which gained him a reputation as a ready debater and resourceful parliamentarian.

WEATHER

For La Crosse and vicinity: Unsettled weather with probably local thunderstorms tonight or Tuesday; not much change in temperature.

For Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa: Unsettled weather with probably scattered thunderstorms tonight or Tuesday; not much change in temperature.

The weather conditions have not changed materially during the past 48 hours. The pressure is still highest over the Atlantic states and lowest in the plains states and plateau region. Widely scattered thunderstorms have occurred from Montana to the lake region during the past 24 hours and rain has occurred in the south Atlantic states. The weather is fair east of the Mississippi valley and generally fair but unsettled throughout the Mississippi valley and plains states.

SCHMITZ MAY RUN; MAY MEAN SPLIT

Announced Candidacy of Milwaukeean May Be Evidence of Break With Aylward

HE DOES NOT LIKE KAREL

Schmitz Says Man With Judge's Record as So-Lion Should Be Defeated

Asked this morning to explain the apparently conflicting circumstances affecting the candidacy of John A. Aylward of Madison, and A. J. Schmitz of Milwaukee, for the democratic gubernatorial nomination, A. C. Wolfe, Seventh district vice president of the Wilson league, said he was not familiar with the facts.

John C. (Ikey) Karel of Milwaukee, an avowed candidate for the nomination, is rated as a stalwart, and is not in accord with Dr. Wilson's ideas. Schmitz is an advanced progressive, and Aylward's allegiance to Bryan stamps him as a progressive, although his standing as such has been noted. Aylward, however, is a partner of Joseph E. Davies, national committeeman, who led the Wilson fight in this state and was a big factor for the doctor in Baltimore, and he and Aylward are said to be in harmony.

Is There Split?

The question raised is whether there is actually a split among the progressives, between Aylward and Schmitz, which may make possible the nomination of Karel.

"The Wisconsin ticket should be headed with a man who believes as does Dr. Wilson," said Mr. Wolfe today. "Wisconsin democracy's chance lies in consistent progressivism."

That this is also the opinion of Assemblyman E. J. Kneen and O. R. Skaar is indicated by their flight in the convention Saturday to prevent resolutions endorsing Karel and condemning the principle of the income tax as applied to states.

George Mathies, political writer for the Milwaukee Sentinel, says in this morning's issue of his paper: "Schmitz Experts to Run."

"I have not finally determined whether I shall be a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor. At the present time I expect to be a candidate and if I finally decide to enter the contest I shall run, convention or no convention. I mean that I should go to the people, whoever the convention might select."

WILLIAM DOWNS DROWNED AT BATHS

Young Man Stricken With Cramps While Bathing in the Mississippi River

GIRL COMPANION IS SAVED

Desperate Attempt to Save Man's Life Fails; Was an Expert Swimmer

Stricken with cramps, William A. Downs, 341 South Twentieth, was drowned in the Mississippi late Saturday afternoon. Miss Gertrude Kaser, Mormon Coulee road and Losey boulevard, after a desperate attempt to save Downs, was rescued in an exhausted condition by Thomas Sholes, 1607 State street.

Downs, who is 32 years old, and Miss Kaser, aged 19, rowed to a sandbar 300 feet above the bath house and jumping from the skiff started to swim down stream. Upon nearing the bridge, Downs suddenly sank beneath the water. As he rose to the surface, the girl grabbed his bathing suit and attempted to save him, at the time shouting for help. A boat with an attendant and Sholes, immediately started to their aid but before they could arrive, the girl weakened and was forced to relinquish her hold, permitting Downs to sink the second time. Again he rose to the surface but disappeared before the boat could reach him. Miss Kaser was dragged from the water in a hysterical condition. Mr. Downs was considered an expert swimmer.

The body was recovered at 9:30 Saturday night by Henry Koch, 527 King street who had been dragging the river. The condition of the muscles leaves no doubt of the cause of the drowning.

Miss Kaser and Downs were among the hundreds of La Crosse people who had gone to the public bath to spend the afternoon. They became acquainted but a few moments before the accident. Officials at the bath house declare that Downs had been warned against going outside the confines of the swimming pool.

Mr. Downs is survived by a wife and child who were visiting at Davenport at the time of the accident. He also is survived by his father, Major Downs, 619 North Third street.

The funeral of Mr. Downs will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 from the house, 341 South Twentieth street. Rev. W. A. Billings of the Baptist church will officiate, and burial will be made in Oak Grove cemetery.

"THE LAWYER'S OPPORTUNITY"

We quote from the Chicago Tribune:

A significant editorial leads the July issue of the Journal of Criminal Law and Criminology. It is by the distinguished head of one of the enlightened courts of last resort, Mr.
Chief Justice Winslow of Wisconsin,
and deserves the thoughtful reading
of every American judge and every American lawyer.

Justice Winslow begins by reminding his readers that "the lawyer of the twentieth century must necessarily be a very different man from
the lawyer of the nineteenth century,
just as the lawyer of the nineteenth century was a different man from the lawyer of the eighteenth century." He must face new conditions and advise clients whose troubles
are not the old troubles.

"We cannot stand still even if we would; the astounding discovery of today becomes the familiar fact of tomorrow, and the archaic curiosity
of the day following. With the accumulation of human knowledge
there comes an ever increasing rapidity of change in economic, legal, and governmental conditions, and to attempt to meet the changed conditions by blindly applying the economic and governmental theories of a preceding century, without change
or adaptation, is to attempt to put modern civilization in a medieval strait jacket."

And a marked change has come over the attitude of the public toward the defects of the administration of the law, writes Justice Winslow. Not many years ago they were assumed to be inherent and incurable. The English system of legal justice was assumed to be superior to any other, and what defects it showed had, "like the epidemics of cholera, the diseases of childhood, or the ubiquitous housefly," their appointed place in the economy of nature.

This attitude has now given place
to an energetically critical one, and men are asking "Why may not justice be had without denial or delay,
as promised on the plains of Runnymede nearly seven hundred years ago?"

"To these active and earliest souls
the stereotyped answer that these minor evils are inevitable and should be accepted with pious resignation
as chastenings from the hand of an allwise Providence is no answer to
all. They utterly decline to subscribe to any such confession of human impotence. With admirable courage, if not always with entire wisdom, they are attacking the defects and imperfections in the administration of the law, and they do not propose to wait for the action of the bench and bar. If bench and bar choose to aid, their assistance
will doubtless be welcome, but if it be lacking the movement will not wait on that account, but it will go forward with greater speed and less discretion, for its leaders will be radicals and doctrinaires who have not experienced the practical difficulties
which are always in the way of such reform."

And Mr. Justice Winslow closes
his article with this query:

"Will the bench and bar appreciate the greatness of the opportunity and give wise, sympathetic and constructive aid to the great movements now in progress to simplify court procedure, to eliminate technical pitfalls from the path of the lit-igant, to humanize the administration of the criminal law, and to mold
legal and economic conditions so that individual effort may have its due reward, and at the same time
that life shall have its message of brightness and hope for all?"

In no other way, he adds, can the legal profession maintain the prestige of the past.

Mr. Justice Winslow's editorial is in marked contrast to the spirit of the Chicago platform, which gives no
sign that its authors and the class

they represent realize the depths and gravity of the protest, stupidly described by them as an "attack"
upon the courts.

Happily there are many men on the bench and at the bar who do not bury their heads in the sand. These men did not join in the outcry against Colonel Roosevelt's recall of decisions or charge him with destroying the ark of the covenant
even when they did not think his plan the best. Some of them approved Colonel Roosevelt's plan. All recognized the evil he sought to cure,
but which he was by no means the first to discern, as both serious and unnecessary.

Our American judicial system is not an exception to the rule that human institutions are imperfect. It is a human, not a divine, institution and has no just claim to immunity from criticism and amendment or alteration. The attitude of Dr. Pangloss is not one which commands the respect of the American people, nor will it protect present conditions and methods from change.
The real conservatives, the real defenders of our system of legal justice are those who recognize its defects and try to remedy them. Our courts have a function peculiar in our system, without parallel in any other. They occupy a tremendous place in the American scheme of government. All the more reason that they should be criticised and thus perfected.

WHAT IS BEHIND CUBA'S REVOLUTION?

Two distinct charges in regard to the Cuban revolt have been made.
Both are of more than general interest. One is that President Gomez, to make himself seem like another Diaz, fomented the rebellion for the express purpose of quelling it. The other is that Americans interested in providing an excuse for intervention and subsequent annexation brought about the trouble. The last has received more general credence. Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota, infact, introduced a resolution in the senate recently calling for an inquiry to learn if it is true.

Cuba numbers among its population about seven thousand Americans, most of them in the kind of business that requires the investment of more or less capital. A great many of these Americans are sugar planters. Not only would they like the greater security to property
which annexation would mean, but they also desire an easier market for their product through a removal or radical lowering of the tariff. Senator Nelson's resolution, by the way,
makes practically the same accusation against Americans in Mexico.
Northern Mexico, as is generally known, is rich in mineral wealth
only now being developed. This development quite generally is in the hands of Americans. Their motive for wishing annexation would be simply the greater security afforded them in the holding and working of their property.

With the forces of capital so well
entrenched as they are today it is possible that some farsighted financiers might be tempted to shape international relations for private ends. At any rate the resolution does no harm and indeed accomplishes
some good by directing public attention to the close relationship existing between capital and the nation's foreign policy. This relationship is legitimate in so far as it is necessary for the government to protect the property of Americans who invest abroad. At the same time it easily may be abused. The senate might well authorize the inquiry if only
to impress upon the country the possibility that it may be used as a cat's paw.

A Chicago man announces that he would not take the democratic nomination for president if it were offered to him on a silver platter. No.
A Chicago man would take the platter.

A Colorado bride had her husband
arrested fifteen minutes after they were married. It was his own fault.
No man should be so slow in coming
across with his bank roll.

PIER BREAKS; 3 DROWN

NEW YORK, July 8.—A police launch today was dragging the waters of Jamaica bay at Point Breeze Island, searching for the bodies of two of the three persons who were drowned last night when an old pier collapsed under the weight of fifty people crowding to board a Sheepshead Bay launch.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Declaration
Out with the rime of the world,
Shove the horizons out;
Go thou with flag unfurled,
With song and solemn shout.

Break all boundaries down,
Untrack the bordered way,
Against the charted town
Arise, invoke, inveigh!

Rid the world of its gods:—
Yea, man is good enough
If he break the rulers' rods
And march with perfect love.

Deny the Christian name
Employed for pelf and strife,
And in its stead proclaim
Man, that is lord of life!

Then out on the coasts of the world
With eyeballs taut and grim,
When the uttermost wind is hurled
Across the uttermost rim.

Peer till the darkness gives
And the lights unblur the sky,
Fight till the unborn lives
And the dying die!

One for the Alienists

We came upon the automobile
standing upon the brow of the hill.
"Hello!" we say to the chauffeur.
"Broken down?"

"No, sir," he responds.

"Out of gasoline?"

"No, sir. We have plenty."

"Tire punctured?"

"No, sir. The tires are in perfect condition."

"Lost your way?"

"No, sir. The country hereabouts is very familiar."

Dropped something from the automobile?"

"No, sir. Nothing of the sort."

"Then why are you standing here?
Why are you not shooting down the hill and across the level at a terrific speed?"

"I do not care to do that," says
the owner of the machine, who has been silent until this moment. "I had my automobile stopped here so that I might enjoy the magnificent view from this elevation."

With a frightened glance at him,
we turn and hasten to the nearest
town to warn officials that an evidently insane person is at large in an automobile.—Kansas City Inde-

Worsting the Professor

The Rev. Dr. Ritchie of Edinburgh, though a very clever man, once met his match. When examining a student as to the classes he attended, he said:

"I understand you attend the class
for mathematics?"

"Yes."

"How many sides has a circle?"

"Two," said the student.

"Indeed! What are they?"

What a laugh in the court the student's answer produced when he promptly said:

"An inside and outside."

The doctor next asked: "And you attend the moral philosophy class also?"

"Yes."

"Well, you doubtless heard lectures on various subjects. Did you ever hear one on cause and effect?"

"Yes."

"Does an effect ever go before a cause?"

"Yes."

"Give me an instance."

"A barrow wheeled by a man."

The doctor hastily sat down and proposed no more questions.—San Francisco Herald.

The MAN in the BROWN DERBY

by
WELLS HASTINGS
Author of
The Professor's Mystery
Copyright, 1911, by Bobbs-Merrill Co.

I suppose I slept soundly for an hour or two, until the first numbing
edge of my weariness had passed;
then through utter unconsciousness
crept the vague and poignant stirrings of my anxiety. Nancy's face,
white and terrified, came before me
in changing dream and dream. It seemed to me that she tried to call
but could not, that she was in some dim place where she believed my eyes could not find her, and that,
finally in her desperation unable to speak and struggling frantically in silence for my attention, she overthrew at last some unknown object
with a crash. With a cry I awoke
and sprang from the bed.

The first gray of morning was coming in the window, and birds were twittering and astir. The dim country lay in wholesome peace before me, and yet my mind surged
with a living horror of the dream.
Dully I looked about my room; the chair upon which I had put my clothes was overturned, and in the middle of the floor, piled one upon another, were stacked my ransacked bureau-drawers. Yet there was not a sound in the house.

As softly as I could I searched room after room; the house was empty from garret to cellar. My visitor, whoever he was, and there could be but little doubt of his probable identity, had made a safe escape.

I was angry that sleep had held me so soundly, and chagrined to think that this man, whom I would have given my life to lay my hands
upon, had stood watching me as I slept, and had coolly searched my room for what he wished to find;
but this chagrin was tempered somewhat by the reflection that his search had been in vain; for he could have come back for nothing
save the collar and tie, which he left in my hands, and which I found still safe beneath my pillow. The very fact that he had come back for them gave them added importance
in my eyes, for certainly their importance to me must have occurred
to him, and must have strongly disturbed him, to have made him risk
another return.

Then, too, he must have come alone; which meant that he had left Nancy in some other care; what care I could not guess, but was thankful for the necessity all the same.

It seemed to me that my best course of action, at least the only one that presented itself to me at the moment, was to go back again
to the county seat, and, with that as a center, to start my search from there. I went about the house closing and locking the windows against my indefinite return. I had lived in it but two days, and yet the place was somehow home; and, as I made it secure, this very home atmosphere heartened me unbelievably. The place was undoubtedly meant for us; and I could not but believe that, sooner or later, my search
would be successful, and Nancy and I would some day take up the quiet
life there that both of us so sorely needed, and that both of us would find so sweet.

As I locked the front door I hesitated about the disposal of the key. It was barely possible that Nancy herself might return in my absence, that, by some ingenuity of her own, she might be able to escape from whatever situation now held or coerced her. It would be bad enough for her to find me gone, at least she should not find the house locked against her. I smiled as I lifted the front door mat and dropped the key under it; any woman would look
there for a key, either there or over the lintel of the door. Men, having pockets, do not expect to find the key of a locked house in any other place.

I turned at the gate to look back at the house. How still and quiet and waiting it looked! I felt as Adam must have at the Garden
gate; the world's strife before me and paradise behind. But after all an empty paradise is not paradise
at all, and I turned my back resolutely upon it, and set forth upon my indefinite journey. By great good fortune I found my nearest neighbor just about to start into town with a wagon load of farm stuff. He looked me over curiously enough, but consented to give me
a seat beside him, when I told him who I was and where I lived. He considered it a good opportunity, I think, to satisfy a curiosity, which had evidently for some days been preying upon him. I fear, however, that I proved a poor source of information; I was so busy with my thoughts and plans that only with the greatest effort was I able to answer his constant questioning at all, and, even with all the will in the world, there was very little information that I had in my power to give. His incredulous suspicion, when I denied knowing how much had been paid for the farm,
would have amused me at any other time; as it was, I made the lame
excuse that I was only the tenant
of the real purchaser; I cared not at all that he did not believe me.

As we drew into Doylestown a new thought and fear possessed me.
If, by that chance in a hundred,
Nancy should return to the house,
would she not be frightened and perplexed to find me gone? Natural-

PUBLIC DEBATE

Under the provisions of the Donahue bill passed at a special session of the Illinois legislature, if ten percent of the membership petition for a referendum vote on the new rates
adopted at the Chicago head camp,
then the executive council of the Modern Woodmen must order such vote taken thus giving the members
a voice in the fixing of rates and safeguarding the society against hasty legislating and the establishing of exorbitant rates.

Judge F. S. Parker of Superior,
Wis., has demonstrated that if a young man at the age of 20 would save what he would pay in the M. W.
of A. under the new rates on $1,000,
he would have at 4 per cent compound interest at the end of his expectancy of life $2,116. In other other words he pays $2,116 for $1,000 insurance. The judge follows up his demonstration year by year,
showing that even at the age of 54
a man would pay $1,240 for $1,000
insurance.

The insurgents are not fighting for the old rates but they are objecting to the permanent application of the Chicago rates, believing that they are too high. It is claimed with good reason that a plan of life insurance
can be devised and a schedule of rates adopted which will insure the payment of every policy in full and not be so burdensome upon the individual member.

Local camps have received official notice and blank petitions and the same will probably be acted upon at the next regular sessions.

FIVE NEW CARS ON NORTH SIDE

Pay-as-You-Enter System
Likely To Be Established on All Lines

Five of the pay-as-you-enter street cars were started in operation on the north side system this morning, this being the first time that cars of this kind have been used in La Crosse. Two new cars built especially along the pay-as-you-enter lines are now running while three of the large old cars were remodelled so that they could be used for this purpose.

The new system is being tried out exclusively on the north side but it is probable that if the idea works out successfully this style of cars will be used on all the lines in the city. All cars running on the north side are now of the pay-as-you-enter type.

In the larger cities of the country where pay-as-you-enter cars have been in use for some years, they have proven a big success. By means of this system transportation is made much simpler and the large crowds which daily use the street cars can be handled much more easily than before while greater speed can also be made in transportation.

The new cars on the north side were the object of much attention this morning when they were started out. Motormen and conductors appear to be greatly pleased with the new system and it was declared this morning that they should be a success in every way.

One means of entrance and one of exit are provided on the new cars. Passengers enter by way of the rear platform, the doors on both ends of the cars being closed by a lever as soon as the car starts to move. An exit is provided on the front platform, the motorman operating these doors with a lever. This system should present possible accidents for nobody can enter or leave the cars while they are in motion as the doors are closed as soon as the cars start to move.

Irvine Bunn, who has been at La Mollie, returned yesterday.

CLUBWOMAN IS DEAD

MRS. SARAH PLATT DECKER OF DENVER FAILS TO RECOVER AFTER AN OPERATION

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—“Every woman in the National Federated Women's clubs will feel that she has lost a personal friend,” was the expression here today of Mrs. P. V. Pennybacker, newly elected president of that organization, in commenting on the death here last night of Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker of Denver, for twenty years prominent in the women's movement.

Mrs. Decker died in the Adler sanitarium here, where she was operated on after being stricken with illness while attending the biennial convention of the Federated Women's clubs, of which for four years she was president.

The body will be taken back to Denver for burial.

He had been attending college at St. Peter, Minn., but shortly after his return to his home at Dakota, Minn., for the summer, he had been given charge of the missions. Burial will be made at Dakota.

TURN CROWDS AWAY

OPENING OF BIJOU THEATER IS MARKED BY THROGS TOO GREAT TO GAIN ADMITTANCE

There were many disappointed people in La Crosse Saturday evening owing to the opening of the newly remodeled Bijou theater. The disappointed ones were those who were unable to get in. Those who were not disappointed were those who were in line early and managed to get a seat. The house now seats 480.

The house opened its doors at 7 o'clock in the evening, and from then until the close at 11 there was scarcely a moment that there was a vacant seat in the house. The presence of Professor A. J. White, noted singer, whistler and guitar artist, contributed somewhat to this state of affairs. The introduction of vaudeville turns into a motion picture program is a new feature in La Crosse.

The new house, which is so changed that it seems a different place from the old Bijou, will change program every Sunday, Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

COMBINATIONS BEAT RUBBER MILLS TEAM

In a well played game at Copeland Park yesterday afternoon, the Combination indoor baseball team beat the Rubber Mills nine by the count of 7 to 6 after an eleven inning battle. After tying the score in the ninth frame the Combinations put over the winning tally in the eleventh.

Ritter started in to do the twirling for the Combinations but he retired at the end of the second inning in which time the Rubber Mills had made four runs. Schumway then went to the slab and pitched holding his opponents well. Hogan did the catching for the Combinations. Gunderson and Donaldson were the battery for the Rubber Mills.

The Goose Greens handed the Rubber Mills a defeat in the morning when they won an 18 to 14 victory at Copeland Park.

TRY OUT NEW RAIL LAYER

The rail layer is a new departure and its efficiency will be shown this afternoon when it is to be given a tryout here. If it proves to be a success it is likely that it will be adopted by the road and used by the C. M. & St. P. for laying rails.

Says Cheaper Cuts
of Beef Are Better

CHICAGO, July 8.—The high cost of living, particularly the high cost of beef, was explained by M. Charles Laparrigue, the Parisian chef who opened the kitchens of the Hotel Plaza in New York and the Hotel La Salle in Chicago. He said: "The American housewife is too finicky about her selection of beef cuts."

And then the chef in a booklet tells of the delicious dishes that can be made from the jowl, shin bone, palette of the beef. He says the housewife will find the dishes made from these cheaper parts of a beef much more nourishing than high priced steaks.

"You will find revealed secrets," he says, "which will make you wish that beef boiled—taken from the cheaper cuts—would be served to you every day."

"If the average housewife," he continues, "who thinks nothing but porterhouse is good enough for her and her family will look at the bill of fare of the first class French restaurants in Chicago, she will find that at least a dozen dishes costing from fifty cents to $2 an order and bearing strange French names, are made from the cheapest cuts of beef."

G. P. Smith of Prairie du Chien, who has been visiting relatives in this city during the last week, has returned to his home.

HOME FOR FRIENDLESS DINNER

Through the kindness of Mrs. G. C. Hixon, the sixteen children and a number of the women inmates of the Home for the Friendless enjoyed a delightful dinner at the "Home" the Fourth of July. It was planned to give them a motor ride and picnic but the heavy rain prevented the plan from maturing so refreshments were served in the new part of the building. The little ones enjoyed the treat although a little disappointed about the ride, but they were assured that it would come some time in the future.

BERGER TELLS HOW SOCIALISTS VIEW POLITICAL FIGHT

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The socialist view of the republican and democratic nominees was given today by Representative Victor L. Berger, the Wisconsin socialist, in an interview.

"We all know who Mr. Taft is, and where he stands," Berger said. "He is a well meaning and conservative gentleman of a great deal of judicial temperament and comparatively little executive ability. He was selected by Mr. Roosevelt as the 'heir of my policies,' when there was no other policy left to inherit than the continuous use of a bass drum."

"Mr. Wilson is very much handicapped by his past. He has said things that will require explanation."

Berger declared that the socialist party would profit by the "disintegration of the old capitalist parties."

DOERFLINGERS BEAT PRAIRIE DU CHIEN

In one of the best games ever seen at Prairie du Chien, the Doerflinger team defeated the Prairie du Chien nine yesterday by the score of 5 to 3. The locals rallied in the last two innings when they scored four tallies and this enabled them to win out for the Prairie du Chien Giants were in the lead up to that time, 3 to 1.

In the eighth round the Doerflingers tied the score by making two runs on Melner's double and Johnson's single and in the ninth they won out by counting two more tallies.

Anderson, on the slab for the locals, pitched a great game, holding the Giants down to five hits and striking out ten batters.

Rockefeller Celebrates Seventy-Third Birthday

CLEVELAND, O., July 8.—John D. Rockefeller is seventy-three years old today. His health is better than for years back and he is richer. He rose at 7:30 o'clock and after adjusting his wig, took a squint at himself in the mirror.

"Not so bad for three-score years and thirteen," he soliloquized.

Then he went down for breakfast, and ate a heaping dish of strawberries, and cream, drank a large glass of milk and munched several pieces of buttered toast.

"Many happy returns of the day," said the maid as she served him.

At 9 o'clock Mr. Rockefeller mounted his bicycle and started for the golf links. He wore a large brimmed straw hat to ward off the hot rays of the sun. He cracked the ball with as much force as a man of 40.

John D. was planning to spend the afternoon in his usual way. No guests had been invited for the birthday party. He and Mrs. Rockefeller were to eat the birthday cake alone.

If the weather remains fair, the oil king may take an automobile ride late this afternoon. He attended church yesterday and after the service pledged $5,000 to help pay for redecorating the Euclid Avenue Baptist church. He heard the Rev. W. W. Bustard deliver a sermon on "Making a Fuss."

CALL HANFORD SOBER

TEN WITNESSES SAY HIS HABIT OF CLOSING EYES WAS NOT SIGN OF DRUNKENNESS ON BENCH

SEATTLE, Wash., July 8.—Ten character witnesses were called in the Hanford impeachment investigation Saturday who testified that they had never seen Judge C. P. Hanford drunk. They attributed his appearance of napping upon the bench as merely a habit. They said that the judge at all times, though closing his eyes and seeming to sleep paid strict attention. Those who testified were:

Jesse A. Frye, former United States district attorney; Fred M. Lathie, Deputy United States marshal; C. F. Yeaton, E. C. Kilbourne, bailiffs; John Steinger, deputy sheriff; Col. Henry Landes, of Port Townsend; E. C. McDonald, assistant attorney in Spokane; William H. Thompson, former western counsel for the Great Northern railway; Dudley G. Wooten, attorney, and Dean John T. Condon of the state university law school.

CLOTHIERS WIN A 16 TO 2 VICTORY

The La Crosse Clothing company baseball team added another victory to its list of victories yesterday when Viroqua went down to defeat before the local club by the overwhelming score of 16 to 2. The Clothiers had their batting eyes with them as they hit for a total of twenty-two bingles including a triple and a home run drive. At the same time Bartels was pitching unbeatable ball, holding Viroqua to three singles, all of which were secured by Morrison. Bartels fanned sixteen men during the afternoon.

Falk, left fielder for the Clothiers, was the batting star of the day. In six trips to the plate he slammed out as many hits, connecting every time he came up. Griffin and Pederson were the other heavy hitters for the locals, each man making three hits. In addition, Griffin poked out one which netted him three bags while Pederson pounded out a hit which was good for the circuit.

WOULD FALL UPON OROZCO UNAWARES

EL PASO, Texas, July 8.—With the main body of the Mexican federal troops resting at Chihuahua, where the commander, General Victoriano Huerto, has made his headquarters, two brigades of federal cavalry are speeding northward today, in an effort to engage General Orozco's rebels at Casas Grandes, before they can be fully organized. The cavalry is commanded by Generals Rabago and Tellez, who operated so effectively against the insurgents at the battles of Rellano and Bachimba. It will be impossible for the main federal body to make much progress, as Orozco destroyed the railroad as he retreated northward, making Huerta's task stupendous. Huerta hopes, however, to inflict a crushing defeat on Orozco's main body with his veteran cavalry.

DEATH OF CHILD REMAINS MYSTERY

Twelve Year Old Girl is Tortured and Slain by Unknown Murderer in New York

NEW YORK, July 8.—Although they have two men under arrest on suspicion the police today admitted they were completely baffled in their efforts to solve the brutal slaying of twelve-year-old Julia Connors, assaulted and slain after being horribly tortured while held in an unoccupied flat.

The child was found denuded of clothing and lying in a vacant lot. She was able to tell nothing regarding the identity of her assailant. The police and doctors who have been working on the crime today pronounced it the most brutal in the city's annals.

Julia Connors, who was unusually pretty and large for her years, disappeared late Saturday night. Her frantic parents searched the neighborhood for her, and appealed to the police, but no trace of the child was found until yesterday when her body slashed with half a hundred knife wounds, and bruised with blows from a heavy fist, was found covered with a piece of stained oil cloth and stuffed into a box lying in the vacant lot.

The child died in the hospital an hour later. The police after vainly trying to trace her movements arrested Giovanni Gerissi, 24, a coal and ice dealer, and Jefferson Kelly. Kelly had bloodstains on his clothing but insisted they came from injuries he received in a recent accident.

Chicago To Suffer Fate of Gomorrah?

CHICAGO, July 8.—Comparison of Sodom and Gomorrah with Chicago today, looks bad for Chicago, according to Wilbur Glenn Voliva, Zion City leader. Addressing members of his flock in this city, he said: "Even as Sodom and Gomorrah were destroyed, so God's judgment is going to fall upon the cities of this land, and upon Chicago first. There is only one city that will not be destroyed. That is Zion City. I command all of you to leave this city of wickedness and come to Zion."

Voliva announced today that he would order closed all branch churches of his faith and that all his followers, over the country would be called to Zion City. There are churches of Voliva's faith in Cleveland, San Francisco, Melbourne, Australia, Yokohama, Japan and London. The branch church at Hong Kong, China, was closed recently and the elder and many of his flock moved to Zion City. Voliva has not fixed the date.

The rapidity with which rats multiply is the main reason why man appears to make so little headway in their destruction. ## URGE HOUSE TO IMPEACH JUDGE OF NEW COURT

ment aim to enumerate as many distinct offenses upon which the committee asserts Archbald should be stripped of his judicial emline.

The Articles
Article one cites Archbald's alleged partnership with E. J. Williams of Scranton, Pa., for purchase and sale of the Katy-Did coal dump, during the time that the Erie railroad, owner of that dump, was concerned in litigation before his court.

Article two deals with the Marion Coal company deal, declaring that at the time of Archbald's alleged interest in the speculation, the Lackawanna railroad, owner of the coal company was concerned in litigation before the Commerce court.

Article three cites the alleged negotiations for purchase of a dump from the Lehigh Valley Coal company near Shenandoah, Pa.

Article four deals with Archbald's alleged misconduct in litigation brought before the Commerce court by the Louisville and Nashville railroad, where he is charged with "sneak, wrongfully, and unlawfully," communicating with an attorney of the road, regarding a witness.

The fifth indictment cites the alleged deal with Frederick Warnke, of Scranton, in coal lands owned directly by the Philadelphia & Reading company, charging Archbald with wrongfully attempting to influence officials of the coal company to grant Warnke a lease. The charge is also made that Archbald "corruptly, wilfully and unlawfully" accepted as a gift from Warnke, a promissory note for $500, presumably for his services in the matter.

Article six alleges Archbald improperly and corruptly attempted to use his influence as a judge with the Lehigh Valley Railway company to secure interest in the Everhard coal lands of Pennsylvania.

Gold Mine Scheme
Article seven charges misconduct when Archbald was district judge at Scranton, in the alleged partnership between the judge and H. W. Rissinger for purchase of stock in a Honduras gold mining scheme.

The charge was made that following this, Archbald ruled in favor of Rissinger's coal company in a suit then before him.

The eighth charge alleged that as a district judge, Archbald countersigned a note for $500 with the "corrupt" purpose of coercing W. P. and G. Boland, then litigants in his court, to discount it.

The ninth article concerns Archbald's alleged action on another $500 note presented through John Henry Jones, to C. H. Vanstorch, for discount. Vanstorch at that time being an attorney in Archbald's district court at Scranton, and shortly after having secured a verdict for his client in one of Archbald's decisions.

The tenth article charges Archbald at the time he was a district judge with acceptance of a large sum of money presented by Henry W. Cannon, then largely interested in corporations concerned in litigation before Archbald. The gift, the committee says was made in order that Archbald might take a trip abroad. Its acceptance from "an official of corporations liable to be interested in litigation in his court," the article declares, "was improper and had tendency to bring and did bring his office of district judge into disrepute."

Article eleven cites another alleged money gift, described by attorney in Archbald's court.

In article twelve alleges that in 1901, Archbald appointed Judge Woodward, general attorney for the Lehigh Valley railroad, then frequently before his court in litigation, a jury commissioner, Woodward continuing also to act as counsel for the railroad.

Article thirteen is a general indictment against the judge for his "general business of speculation and profit," while a commerce court judge and a denunciation of his alleged effort to compromise litigation before the interstate commerce commission. The count cites that Archbald corruptly used his influence with officers of the Erie, the Lackawanna and other railroads to enter into contracts and agreements in which he was secretly interested, the railroads then being parties to litigation then before the commerce court.

The thirteenth impeachment articles cover Archbald's judicial career for a period of eleven years.

FIRE WHISTLE TO WARN SPRINKLERS

Chief Bradfield Seeks Remedy for Low Pressure During Sprinkling Hours

Because of the low water pressure available for fire fighting purposes during the water sprinkling hours, a resolution will be introduced at the next meeting of the city council for the installation of a whistle at the pumping house which will be used to notify citizens of fire during those hours. The plan as proposed by Fire Chief Nathan Bradfield is to procure a high powered whistle, which can be heard in all parts of the city. Whenever a fire alarm is sent in during the hours when water is being used to sprinkle lawns, the whistle will be blown. One long continual whistle will signify that a fire alarm has been sent in and two will mean that the fire has been extinguished and that high pressure is no longer necessary.

Chief Bradfield suggested this as a means of doing away with the lack of pressure which is invariably found between the hours of 4 and 6 p. m. He said today, "We had to answer an alarm near Grand Crossing recently and found that there was but twenty pounds of pressure. Several times last summer company No. 4 was forced to fight fires with as low as five and six pounds of pressure. With the co-operation of the citizens, this plan can be made to work to the advantage of all and eliminate the danger from fire to which LaCrosse has always been subject on account of the heavy draw on water for sprinkling purposes. A large percentage of the fires happen during the hours when the water plant is subject to the heaviest drain from sprinkling."

During the tour of inspection of the aldermen and city officials of the fire houses last week, Chief Bradfield, made this suggestion which met with the approval of the mayor and several of the aldermen. No opposition to the plan is anticipated.

didacy," said Mr. Schmitz, when it was suggested that expectations all along had been that the Aylward strength in the state would be thrown to him. "It was said there was a deal on when I supported Wilson, but there was no such thing. I never had a political deal in my life and never will."

Attacks Judge Karel

"Mr. Schmitz said he was opposed to any one with the reported record that the anti-Karel men had dug up of Judge Karel's votes in the legislature. 'Any man with a record like that,' said Mr. Schmitz, 'ought to be beaten. If that record is correct I will do all I can to beat him, even if necessary going to the extent of withdrawing as a candidate in favor of some one else.' Mr. Schmitz said he would look over the situation and publish a statement within a few days."

TONOPAH IN ASHES

TONOPAH, Nev., July 8.—With the greater part of the town in ashes, Tonopah faces a loss of more than $200,000 from fire which early today swept the business section.

Many of the best buildings in the camp were destroyed, among them the stock exchange.

Nearly all of the wires into the city were put out of commission only that from the depot being now in working order. No lives, so far as known, were lost.

When the bride begins to ask pertinent questions the honeymoon is bordering on the ragged edge.

LA CROSSE BOAT CAPTURES PRIZES

Theodore Thompson Wins Cash Prize and Cup at Davenport, Iowa, Regatta

NEW BOAT IS A WONDER

Baby Reliance Goes Nearly Mile a Minute; Disturber Unable to Run

Theodore Thompson, the only La Crosse man entered in the motor boat races held at Davenport, Iowa, last week, grabbed two valuable prizes with his Borm Jeric, one for $75 in the two cylinder engine class and the other a $50 cup in the handicapped race. The La Crosse boat performed very creditably, going the five mile distance in twenty-four minutes.

What is believed to be a record distance run on the Mississippi in a power boat was made by Mr. Thompson on his way back to La Crosse yesterday. He made the run from Davenport to Lansing, about 226 miles, in fourteen hours. He was accompanied by J. E. Higbee of this city.

The big sensations of the regatta, according to the story told by La Crosse people who returned from Davenport today, were the Baby Reliance and the Baby Reliance III, both belonging to J. J. Ryan of Allouez, Mich., formerly noted in horse racing circles. The first boat, a twenty foot hydroplane equipped with twelve cylinder 250 horsepower engine, swept everything and proved itself capable of going faster than a mile a minute. Its average time in the races was 40.4 miles an hour which is better than the world's record. It made the one mile dash in one minute and seven seconds or better than 52 miles an hour. The Dixie averaged 40.4 miles an hour in the races at Dubuque last year. The Baby Reliance, however, never came near its limit at the races this year.

Ryan Reaps Harvest
Altogether Ryan won $1,950 in cash prizes and cups worth $2,500. His boats raced in the 20, 22, 26 and 40 foot classes and took first in every one. Other noted boats in the races were: Wigwam II, belonging to Charles Wise of Astoria, Ore., the champion of the Pacific coast; Leading Lady II, belonging to W. P. Cleveland, Galena, Ill.; The Disturber III, one of the fastest boats of the Dubuque regatta, owned by J. A. Pugh of Chicago, was unable to get into the races on account of engine trouble that developed at the last minute.

More than 120,000 people saw the races which were held for three days, July 4, 5 and 6. About twenty-five people from this city were in attendance. The crowd was seated in a huge grand stand that had been built for the occasion.

Races Rouse Enthusiasm
The La Crosse men who attended are enthusiastic over the races and call them the coming sport. They say that the association made money on the regatta in spite of the fact that there were automobile races in the city at the same time. They also say that the showing made by Ryan's "redeems the contention of the La Crosse Motorboat club that it is feasible to put a 200 horse power engine in a twenty foot boat and that the La Crosse boat came to grief last year because of its faulty construction and not because of any mistake in its general plan.

At the meeting of the executive committee Saturday night W. V. Kidder of La Crosse was elected clerk of course and St. Clair Edge of Dubuque was chosen timer for the regatta to be held at Keokuk, Iowa, next summer.

PIERCE MUST PAY

NEW YORK, July 8.—Henry Clay Pierce, the St. Louis magnate, must pay to Mrs. Alice Ryecroft of this city $171,000 which she alleges was due her as the result of a stock deal. She obtained a judgment by default for the amount against Pierce in the supreme court several months ago. Pierce, through his attorneys, appealed to have the judgment set aside. He alleged that he was ill at his home when the time for the trial came. Judge Brady held that Pierce's excuse was insufficient.

CALL CONVENTION OF "BULL-MOOSE"

First National Meeting of Roosevelt's Party Will Be in Chicago August 5

COCHEMS SIGNS THE CALL

Milwaukee Attorney Who Deserted Bob Puts His Name to Colonel's Proclamation

NEW YORK, July 8.—The first national convention of the third party, born in Orchestra hall, Chicago, on June 22, will be held in Chicago on August 5 for the purpose of nominating candidates for president and vice president. A call was issued yesterday. The name of the new organization probably will be the "National Progressive party."

The call was given out by Senator Joseph M. Dixon of Montana, Theodore Roosevelt's campaign manager. It appeals to all people of the United States who are in sympathy with the national progressive movement. They are asked to send delegates to the convention, chosen as each individual state shall see fit.

The call is signed by the provisional committee elected at the Roosevelt massmeeting held in Chicago on the closing night of the republican national convention. It likewise bears the signatures of Roosevelt followers in forty states, among whom are men high in official, commercial, industrial and professional life. Henry F. Cochems, Milwaukee, signed the call for Wisconsin.

GRAND LODGE OF ELKS IN SESSION

"Bills" From Every State Crowd Into Portland to Spend Week at the Convention

PORTLAND, Ore., July 8.—With the city thronged with "Bills" from every state in the union, and thousands more pouring in on special trains, the 46th annual grand lodge reunion of the Elks began here today. It will continue throughout the week, ending at midnight Saturday. The program today includes sight-seeing trolley trips, band concerts in the business section, reception on board the historic old Battleship Oregon, a reception to visiting women at the Elks' temple, and Roman chariot races. The formal opening of the grand lodge will be held tonight.

Elks arriving today were escorted to their quarters to the music of dozens of bands. The city is magnificently decorated.

Large delegations from the middle west and east will arrive tonight. The ritual, charter, judiciary and credentials committees are working unceasingly so that their reports may be ready for the grand lodge.

Election of officers will be held tomorrow. Thomas H. Mills of Superior, Wis., will be elected grand exalted ruler, succeeding John P. Sullivan. Mills is the only candidate.

Rochester and Cincinnati appear to be the most formidable contenders in the race for the 1913 convention.

POLICE CHIEFS TO MEET IN MILWAUKEE

Chief of Police John Webber, secretary of the Wisconsin Chiefs of Police association, today sent a circular letter to the mayors of the towns and cities of the state urging them to send their police chiefs to the convention which will be held in Milwaukee August 7 and 8. Chief Webber urges the mayors to use their influence to secure appropriations for their chiefs' expenses at the convention. He argues that the cities get the benefit of the new ideas introduced at the convention and that the standard of their police department will be raised as a result. The international convention of fire chiefs opens tomorrow in Toronto, Canada. La Crosse is not represented at this convention for the first time in five years.

STARVE DURING STRIKE

WOMEN AND CHILDREN OF TRANSPORT WORKERS IN ENGLAND SUFFER FROM LACK OF FOOD

LONDON, July 8.—Many women and children were today facing starvation as the result of the transport workers' strike, which today entered its eighth week. The strike leaders claim that 80,000 men are still out. The union relief funds were exhausted long ago. Today, all organized charities are unable to care for the applicants, and the death rate, especially among the children of tender years, who are unable to secure needed nourishment, has increased to an alarming rate.

The reports of the board of trade show a falling off in the volume of imports of more than $2,000,000 and in exports of upward of five million dollars for the last month. The loss in wages to the strikers is estimated at five million.

When Mrs. Richard Harding Davis secured a divorce from her husband in Chicago a few weeks ago she gave as one of her grievances that her husband had been a little too friendly with the actress, Beattie McCoy. There may have been some grounds for her complaint, for Davis and the actress were wed on July 8. Miss McCoy has not been married before. She wore the first sheath skirt ever seen in New York streets and won fame as the Yama Yama girl.

CHIPPEWAS HOLD ANNUAL POW WOW

Last of Tribe on Couderay Reservation Gather For Week of Feasting and Revelry

WHITEFISH LAKE, Wis., July 8.—The spectacle of 1,000 Indians in war paint, young bucks, old bucks, squaws and papooses, was seen here today when "the last of the Chippewas" participated in their annual war dance which will last one week on the Couderay reservation here.

The chanting of the squaws, mingled with the yelling of the bucks was heard for a great distance as the red men encircled about a gaudy painted pole that in former years held the trophy of the chase or battle. Genuine war paint adorned the faces and naked bodies of the Indians.

Immediately following the dance today the entire assemblage repaired to the outdoor kitchen where choice dog meat was served in barbecue style. Hundreds of interested pale faces came for miles to see the spectacle, which is an annual event with the fast disappearing red man in Wisconsin.

The absence of dogs in this section of the country at the present time was commented on by the whites.

AMERICA TIGHTENS GINCH ON OLYMPIC

All Three Places in 800 Meter Run Taken By Athletes From the United States

ADD NINE POINTS TO TOTAL

Generally Conceded That Westerners Will Walk Off With Honors of the Games

STOCKHOLM, July 8.—The wonderful prowess of the visiting athletes from the United States was demonstrated so conclusively this afternoon in the finish of the 800 meter run that it is now accepted the Yankees will retain most of the Olympic records when the games finally come to the end. Americans finished one, two, three in the 800 meter event, and each of the three men finished in less than world's record time for the distance.

The race was won by James E. Meredith of Mercersburg academy, with Mel Shepard of the Irish-American Athletic club, at his heels and Ira N. Davenport of the Chicago Athletic club, third, and only a short stride back. The race was one of the most wonderful ever seen. Meredith's time was 1:51 9-10. As was expected, first honors in the 10,000 meter run went to H. Kohemainen, the wonderful Finnish runner, who defeated Louis Tewanima, the Carilele Indian pluggers. Stenroos, the Finnish crack, was third. The time of the winner was 31:20.

Almen W. Richards of Brigham Young university, won the high jump with 6 feet 3 and 3-10 inches to his credit. Ilische of Germany, was second, and Horine of California, third.

America added nine points to her totals today and is now securely anchored in the lead, all contests of every character considered.

Coal Shortage

Hard Coal to be scarce by first of year. Docks empty at present time.

There is going to be a shortage of hard coal this year. The movement of coal is slow by boat and the docks will not be able to stock as much coal as heretofore. Three months have passed and there is very little coal on the docks yet. Probably won't be any fresh coal until after the 15th. It will be to your interest to order your coal now. The price is the lowest this month. Our hard coal is all freshly mined coal of the best quality to be had, and we guarantee every ton just as represented. If it is not, we will remove it at no cost to you. Better think it over. Price advances July 1.

CITY COUNCIL TO REVOKE CONTRACT

Special Meeting Called to Consider Woolley's Failure to Do the Work on Time

A special meeting of the city council will probably be called for tomorrow night to take up the question of revoking the contract of Thomas E. Woolley for the paving of a certain section of the Mormon Coulee road. This action is the result of his failure to comply with the specifications of a contract for the laying of a water main from the south to the north side.

Under the agreement of the contract the work was to have been finished by July 1 but it is still far from completion. At the last meeting of the council, a resolution was introduced to revoke the paving contract because of his failure to fulfill the other. This was referred to a committee. Members of the committee today requested a special meeting of the council, declaring that they do not wish to take the responsibility upon themselves and that the council as a whole should decide the matter.

This is the second time Mr. Woolley has failed to live up to the specifications of a city contract relative to the time of completion. On the former occasion the city council failed to hold him to the terms of the contract.

LINER RAMS BIG FIGHTING VESSEL

Steamer Commonwealth
Crushes Stern of U. S.
S. New Hampshire in Fog

NEWPORT, R. I. July 8.—In a dense fog at 4:25 o'clock Sunday, the steamer Commonwealth of the Fall River line, while proceeding to Fall River from New York with 1,000 passengers on board, rammed the United States battleship New Hampshire, tearing away the latter's stern and crushing her own bow. No one was hurt.

No Panic
The crash brought the passengers of the Commonwealth out of their cabins in alarm and there was momentary danger of panic, but the officers allayed the fears and the excitement was soon over. Capt. Oliver of the New Hampshire sent a wireless to the Commonwealth asking if assistance was needed. The crew of the New Hampshire were at their posts ready for immediate rescue duty, but the Commonwealth replied: "No, thanks; no assistance required," and to the delight of the passengers and the navy men the Commonwealth proceeded back to Newport under her own steam.

Compartments Save Ship
The water-tight compartments had undoubtedly saved a terrible catastrophe on the Commonwealth. Wireless Operator Whitehead of the Commonwealth used his head well, as the big passenger steamer struck the battleship, by sending out the "S. O. S." distress signal which was picked up by the battleship Florida, Louisiana, Kansas and Iowa, twenty destroyers, the cruisers Panther, San Francisco, Montgomery and other warships and the torpedo station, all of which were ready in a moment to rush to the assistance of the Commonwealth's passengers.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wright of Milwaukee who have been visiting friends in La Crosse left this morning for a brief visit with relatives in Minneapolis.

LAUNCH OWNERS WARNED BY U. S.

Motorboat Regulations
Passed by Congress
In 1910 Are To Be Enforced

THE PENALTIES ARE HEAVY

Revenue Cutter Likely to Make Trip Up Mississippi In Near Future

Unless motorboat owners along the Mississippi river immediately take steps to comply with the government regulations regarding small power craft there is to be wholesale arrests for violation of the law. G. Edwards, collector of Customs for the district embracing La Crosse, has served notice on J. S. Medary, the local collector, that the laws must be lived up to in every respect. Mr. Schultz points out that the motorboat regulations were passed by congress in 1910 and that for two years there has been little attempt to enforce them. He asserts, however, that after two years in which to acquaint themselves with the requirements of these laws, boat owners along the Mississippi have no excuse if their crafts are not properly equipped and in the event of arrest must stand the penalties which range from $300 to $500.

The department of commerce and labor is not desirous of making trouble for the small boat owners and even Mr. Schultz admits that some of the regulations are rather hard to comply with.

Law Two Years Old
"The law has been on the statute books for two years," declared Collector Schultz in a recent interview in Milwaukee, "and it is now up to this office to enforce them. The boats have had two years in which to educate themselves as to the requirements. We have received orders direct from Washington to enforce the law. At this time it may be stated that at any time we may send revenue cutter men along the Wisconsin side of the Mississippi river to determine whether or not boats are complying with these regulations. If they are not there is no other alternative than to cause arrests to be made."

Mr. Schultz, however, is at present endeavoring to do everything possible to make the relations between small boaters and the government amicable.

One thing which he has requested the local collector to do is to secure the registration of all small boats on the Mississippi. La Crosse motorboat owners may register the crafts at the local office and immediately upon such registration will be sent copies of the latest motorboat regulations and navigation laws. Subsequent amendments and changes in these regulations will also be mailed the boaters, if they are registered, which leaves but little chance of their being arrested for violation of the law through lack of knowledge.

Copies of Regulations
Mr. Schultz has also communicated with W. V. Kidder, secretary of the Mississippi Valley Power Boat association, in an effort to obtain the names of all small craft owners in the Mississippi valley. As fast as these names are secured boat owners will receive copies of the regulations. One of the requirements of the government, and the one which is perhaps neglected the most, is the carrying of gasoline fire extinguishers. Under the law every gasoline boat must carry apparatus approved by the government for the extinguishment of gasoline fires.

The life preserver, lighting and other laws are well known to the most of the boaters and it is believed that, in the main, local launch owners are doing everything possible to comply with the law.

The La Crosse Motorboat club has wielded great influence towards securing co-operation between launch owners and the government.

Five arrests for violation were made at Green Bay last week and in all probability the next place visited by the government men will be along the Mississippi.

AMERICANS KEEP UP WINNING PAGE

Yankee Athletes Showing up Well in the Events
at the Olympic Games

STOCKHOLM, July 8.—Though greatly cheered by their sweeping victories Sunday, the American athletes today did not underestimate their rivals from other countries and worked doubly hard to make the third day keep the pace they set on the first two.

Events scheduled for today were the final of the eight hundred meter race, the honors of the semi-finals of which yesterday went to the Americans; the running high jump, final, the trial of which yesterday resulted in six Americans being among the eleven who qualified; 10,000 meter run, final two of the three who qualified being Americans; standing broad jump; 10,000 meter walk; 400 meter relay.

The Americans in yesterday's events made almost a clean sweep. They won the 100 meter dash in 1.2.3 order, and it was the first time in the history of the Olympic games that three flags of any nation were run up at the end of a single event. At the close of the day, the standing was:

United States, 10; Sweden, 3; Finland, 2; Bohemia, 1.

These scores are exclusive of shooting, swimming and cycling points.

When the games were resumed today America and Sweden were tied with a total of 48 points each, including all kinds of contests.

The United States, however, by winning second and third in the standing jump, today's initial event, went into the lead with three additional points. Tsieltris, the Greek expert, won the jump with a record of ten feet, eleven inches. Platt Adams of the New York Athletic club, was second, and his brother, Benjamin Adams, was third.

The committee today ordered the 100 meter swim, in which the Americans defaulted through a misunderstanding yesterday, tried over again, the Americans to compete.

Mr. Chambers and daughter, Miss Hattie of Kansas City, Mo., are the guests of La Crosse relatives and friends.

MANY STATES IN BATTLE ON FRAT

Twenty-five Commonwealths Actively Warring on High School Secret Organizations

Twenty-five states are represented in a crusade which the lawmakers and school authorities of the country are waging against the high school fraternity, according to a report which has just been issued for free distribution by the United States bureau of education. Of these, thirteen states have passed legislative enactments hostile to the secret orders, while the school boards of important cities in the other twelve states have adopted like measures within their own jurisdiction.

All states having laws on the subject provide a penalty of suspension or expulsion from school for all those who join these orders. The most drastic laws were passed by Iowa, Minnesota, and Nebraska, whose legislatures made it a misdemeanor for anyone even to solicit members to these organizations. Michigan and Ohio made it a misdemeanor for a school officer to fail or refuse to carry out the anti-high school fraternity law. Other states which prohibit these orders are California, Indiana, Kansas, Mississippi, Oregon and Vermont. Massachusetts empowers the Boston school committee to deal with the secret society problem in its own way, while Washington gives the same latitude to the school boards of its larger cities.

The more important cities whose school boards have passed regulations restricting or forbidding high school fraternities, are Denver, Meriden, Chicago, Covington, New Orleans, Lowell, Waltham, Worcester, Kansas City, Mo., St. Joseph, Butte, Oklahoma City, Reading, Salt Lake City, Madison, Milwaukee, Racine, and Superior. The commonest penalties are suspension, expulsion or debarment from school athletic or other teams.

The United States bureau of education's report also cites some of the more important court decisions, every one of which upholds the school authorities in dealing rigorously with the high school fraternity, on the ground that the measures so taken are authorized as a part of the school board's discretionary powers. Most courts cited, however, will not allow the offending pupils to be barred from classroom exercises, although they can be barred from participating in all athletic or other contests.

"The high school society will very likely never win such a place in the American educational system as that now occupied by the college fraternity," said William R. Hood, of the education bureau's division of school administration, yesterday. "There is no such need for a high school fraternity; indeed among its most insistent opponents are many college fraternity men."

"It is interesting, and possibly significant, that the movement to extirpate the fraternity activity from high school life had its origin and still finds its greatest in the west and middle-west."

FOUR ARE KILLED IN STRIKE RIOT

LAKE CHARLES, La., July 8.—With one company of the state militia and a score of deputies on duty the authorities declared today that the situation at Grabow, near here, where four men were killed in a strike riot, was well under control. The riot occurred in a lumber yard where a strike has been in progress for some time. When the union men attempted to hold a meeting there was a general fight with the non-union employees. Three of the men killed were union workers.

INTERURBAN CARS CRASH; FOUR DIE

Twenty Others Injured, and Five Are Not Expected to Recover From Their Hurts

MARION, Ind., July 8.—Four people were killed, seven others were fatally hurt and twenty were more or less seriously injured in a collision between two traction cars on the Marion, Bluffton & Eastern line in this city yesterday. Five of the twenty injured were not expected to live.

One of the cars piled between the city and Goldthwaite park and the other was a regular car coming from Bluffton. They came together at a point beyond a switch midway between the city and the park on a straight track. An incoming park car took the switch just ahead of the Bluffton car, which crashed into the regular, telescoping it a third of its distance.

KANSAN PUT UP TO HEAD PROFS.

Progressive Members of National Education Association Would Name Fairchild

CHICAGO, July 8.—After a caucus that lasted until early this morning fifty "progressive" members of the National Education association tossed into the ring the fedora of F. T. Fairchild, Kansas state superintendent of public instruction, their candidate for president of the organization. The entrance of the Kansan into the field, it was predicted today, would bring about a hot contest for the office between his following and the teachers who have lined up for Miss Grace C. Strachan, New York. Both candidates are progressive, although it was said today that Miss Strachan had offered herself as a "harmony" candidate and that she was willing to accept votes from both progressive members and the "conservatives."

At meetings of the board of directors of the N. E. A. and the executive committee, a fight against Secretary Irwin Shepard was anticipated today.

The charge is made against Mr. Shepard that representatives of book firms were given active membership badges and admitted to seats in the convention sessions at the Boston meeting. The badges were given out through his office the charges state.

USES TELEPHONE OFTEN THESE DAYS

"Give me long distance, please."

At his summer home in Sea Girt, N. J., Woodrow Wilson, candidate for president, talks with party leaders who are sometimes a thousand miles away. The telephone plays an important part in modern life, but never is it more useful than during the course of a big political campaign.

They Were Almost All Boys

NO MORE astounding truth was ever brought home to the world than the fact that almost half the soldiers in the Civil War was made up of boys.

Why, more than a million of the Boys in Blue were not over 19; more than 800,000 only 17 years or less; there were 100,000 who were not more than 15.

In the Confederate ranks, also, there were thousands upon thousands of boys—because every male over 15 was expected to serve in the army.

Of the price that was paid, or the mere boys who paid the price; of the truth of that terrible struggle between the North and South, we knew almost nothing until the discovery of the

Long-Lost, Original Brady Civil War Photographs

Issued In 16 Superb Sections

One Each Week for Only 10 Cents and the Coupon

Turn from page to page in any section of this wonderful work scan the faces in the long-lost War Photographs and you can see for yourself the many mere boys among the soldiers.

Some of these boys you see marching, digging trenches, doing camp-work and laboring at the guns on the firing line. Others are beating drums, carrying water, or at games and pastimes. Pitiful to behold, are those pictures that show us shattered youth in the hospitals; budding manhood in the prisons; a life cut short on the battlefield.

In these pictures of Brady's we also see the first boy generals, their smooth faces already set with responsibility; we see George Dewey as a busy lieutenant of a Mississippi gunboat; we see pictures of six future presidents of the United States when they were smooth-faced Civil War soldiers.

You owe it to yourself, you owe it to your children, to present them with these Brady War Photographs, complete with Elson's newly written history, entitled,

"The Civil War Through The Camera"

Nothing is better for your boy than to read and learn about the many famous men who took some part in that great conflict. Among those whose photographs were taken by Brady and his followers, and the history of each, are the following:

- Grant in camp and on the march—always unassuming, always simple, always great;
- Sherman on his war-horse, contemplating his March to the Sea;
- Sheridan as he looked on his immortal ride with "Winchester only twenty miles away";
- Cowan at the head of his battery, riding to battle;
- Golden-haired, dare-devil Custer in the joy of his youth;
- "Daring Dave" Farragut on the "Hartford's" deck after "damning the torpedoes" of Mobile Bay;
- McClellan holding his last interview with the martyr Commander-in-Chief—Abraham Lincoln;
- Jefferson Davis, the Confederate President, in his riding suit when captured;

—Stonewall Jackson just before his last "flanking" march and his mortal wound;

—"Jeb" Stuart, the gallant knight, with his famous plume;

—Admiral Semmes just escaped from the sinking "Alabama";

—Pickett, leader of the Confederacy's "high-tide" at Gettysburg; and

—Lee, the idol of the Confederacy, with sword and sash, at the height of his fame in '63—"Every inch a soldier."

An Educational Work That Fascinates The Young Folks

Boys and girls, whether they "like history" or not, will study every picture, every page in this remarkable work. So fascinating is the facing of the pages of text with photographs of the very persons, places and times described, that the child reads on and on, glad to learn about the strange and exciting scenes, the soldiers and their guns, the ladies with their queer crinolines, the statesmen with their high hats,

Chicago Grain Letter
CHICAGO, July 8.—Conditions in the wheat pit today were more bearish than at any time during recent weeks. Prices sought lower levels from the start. Harvesting began today in the largest producing sections and liberal returns were expected. A call was sent out from Topeka, Kan., for 25,000 harvest hands. Liverpool ruled extremely weak at noon, with prices lower than Saturday.
Corn prices were much lower in Liverpool today, but on the local exchange Saturday's figures were about equalled today.
Oats held fairly steady during today's trading.
Provisions showed a weakness at the start and with the exception of ribs, prices were lower.

During the hour before it closed the grain market advanced on profit taking. The market news was all bearish and the advance made was entirely manipulated.

KONEY MAKES A GREAT RECORD

Big Train Handles 481 Chances in 44 Games Without Receiving a Single Error

During these busy days when the Giants are busy making records, Rube Marquard is out setting a world's record for straight victories won, the Washington Nationals grabbing off 17 straight victories and other things of much note are happening, the performances of one player have been overlooked by all the dope sharks. This player is Edward Koney, who first sacks for the Cardinals.

Koney has handled 481 chances without an error. He has played 44 games since May 13 without a slip. With Marquard out to set a modern day record for straight victories that will be hard to equal, and the Giants doing their best to set a new record for games won in the parent body, Koney is going along trying to make a name for himself as king of the first sackers. Some term him that now. There are a few better, one of the most notable of these being Jake Daubert of Brooklyn. Nevertheless, Koney's record of no errors in 44 games is something worth while.

Takes Many Chances
Handling almost 500 throws or relays, to be exact, 481 chances, the Big Train has been able to escape an error. This great total was accepted in 44 games. The last time Koney made an error was on May 13, when the Cardinals were battling the Boston Braves. Big Ed had made just four errors during the season, which were apportioned in three games. Twice he made one, and on another occasion was charged with two.

Koney's great record is all the more remarkable considering the fact that he has many chances to make errors relaying balls to the plate. The big first sacker not only does duty in his territory, but when a ball is hit to the outfield Koney is right on the job to take the relay and peg it to the plate or any other base. In this way he has good chances of making errors, but thus far, at least in the last 44 games, has escaped a black mark. Then many times he saves the infielders from black marks when they make hurried throws by making one handed stabs for high throws or digging 'em out of the turf.

Always a Good Fielder
To prove the assertion that Koney

is a busy individual is true, it will be said that he has made 29 assists in the 44 games. His busiest afternoon was June 21, when he got four assists. On more than one occasion he has been credited with three assists in a game, while the two come as regularly as the ones. The other 452 chances he has been credited with have been putouts.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

The Cubs bested the Cardinals on bases on balls. They made only four hits against Dale, Sallee and Willis, but received seven passes.

Jackson and Lajole, Cleveland's heavy artillery, went altogether hitless against Hamilton and Adams. The Dodgers outbatted the Reds, 9 hits to 7, but Benton was a bit more effective than Barger in the pinches.

Brooklyn will be handicapped for a time without Moran, the speedy center fielder. He twisted his ankle sliding into second at Cincinnati.

The Reds are playing without Bescher and Egan.

Birmingham, the fleet Nap outfielder, had a busy day with a hit, two stolen bases, two runs and an assist to Livingston in a double play.

INTERNATIONAL BOUT

NEW YORK, July 8.—Another international heavyweight bout will be staged this evening at Madison Square garden when Fred Stribeck, champion of Africa, meets Jim Stewart of Brooklyn. Young Jack O'Brien, termed by Ad Wolgast the cleverest lightweight in the ring, will meet young Brown, who scored a knock down on Matt Wells.
